KAHN IS CONFRONTED BY HIS TWO ALLEGED WIVES.

cuted, but Made to Support His Six Children.

Both Plend That Russian Be No

Samuel Kahn, who came to America from Russia five years ago, and who admits that he now has two wives living in St. Louis, was yesterday confronted by both the women in Captain Johnson's office at the Carr Street Police Station. In the scene that followed the two wives united in interceding in behalf of the man. though each said she would not live with him again. They begged that there be no ecution against him and petitioned that he be required to support his six children, four by his first wife and two by his second. His first wife, who has been in St. Louis only a week, claims that she was married to Kahn eighteen years ago, and shows a marriage license dated in Rostow, Russia, March 21, 1887. She claims that her husband left Russia to escape prosecution He came to America, telling her he would soon send her money to follow him. She says he soon ceased to write to her, and two years after he left Russia she started to America to find him. She went by way of London, where she was com-pelled to leave two of her children be-cause she had not the money to pay for their passage. She arrived at New York in 1902.

their passage. She arrived at New York in 1902.

Her husband had written to her from Baltimore, and she went there to find him. Reaching there, she was told he had gone to Cleveland, O., but she had not the money to follow him further. She remained in Baltimore and secured employment as a housekeeper. After remaining there a year, she continued her search to Cleveland, only to learn there that her husband was in St. Louis, and was married to another woman. She departed at once for St. Louis and rescaled here June 27. She tegan her search for Kahn at once and located him with little difficulty, with the assistance of information she had received in Cleveland. She found him at No. 1125 North Seventh street, where he was living with his second wife, whom he married June 23, 1991.

When confronted by both wives yesterday, Kahn claimed that he had secured a divorce from his first wife before leaving Russia. His wife disputed this, however, and after considerable talking in Hebrew between the two, he admitted that he had attempted to secure a divorce, but had failed.

In spite of the pleadings of the two wives.

In spite of the pleadings of the two wives, Captain Johnson says he will have Kahn prosecuted. A warrant will be sworn out against him by the policeman who made the arrest. He is now in the holdover at the Carr Street Police Station.

SAVAGES ENJOY HEAVY DOWNPOUR

All but the Pygmies Welcome the Frequent Showers-First Independence Day Celebration in Their Lives.

The only people for whom the rain did not work a disappointment yesterday in their celebration of the Fourth were the nembers of the savage tribes at the World's Fair, who celebrated Independence Day for the first time in their lives. Filipinos, Indians, Ainus, Eskimos and Turks welcomed the frequent heavy showers during the day with delight.

The only people of the ethnological exhibit who showed any antipathy to the Fourth of July showers were the little pygmies. While they sat on cracker boxes and stuck their toes in the deep mud surrounding their tent and waded through the puddles of water between showers to great enjoyment, they shrugged their shoulders shiveringly and complained of the cold weather.

They have several trunks full of the latest styles of palm-leaf jungle clothing latest styles of paim-leaf jungle clothing on the way, and confess to a dislike for the American garments they have been compelled to don on account of the cold weather. They say they much prefer their own summer weather in the African jungles to the cold weather of St. Louis. While white-gowned and pink-ribhoned young women stood about in little groups in the exhibit buildings and out of the rain's clutches, bemoaning the fate of their holiday attire, the little igorrotes, the barefoot Indian children, and the happy little vignies played tag in the mud about their grounds and congratulated themselves on the fact that the visitors did not wade through the mud to bother them.

did not wade through the mud to bother them.

The out-of-door entertainment and celebration for the day at the Indian School was abandoned on account of the rain. All the old and young Indians were taken down on the grounds in the morning by Doctor McCowan of the Indian School to review the parade.

Fourth of July proved a meaningless holiday to the hundreds of savages at the Fair, and they confessed that the only difference they noticed in the day was the lack of inquisitive questioning visitors to their homes.

CLOUDY, BUT NO RAIN TO-DAY. Warm Weather Will Continue

With Light, Variable Winds. Cloudy, with no decided change in temperature, is the official weather forecast for to-day. Clouds are expected to make their appearance at an early hour and to remain all day, but the local forecaster promises that the rainfall, if any, will be very light. There will be a slight rise in the temperature, perhaps, but, on account of the clouds, this will not be perceptible. Winds will be light and variable. Warm weather prevails over the rain belt. If Your Watch Goes Wrong Bring it to our repair department. We'll clean, repair or adjust it promptly, satisfactorily and at reasonable cost MERMOD & JACCARD'S,
